Lay Director's Message

My Dear Brothers and Sisters,

In a recent Gospel we heard Christ ask Peter three times if he loved Him. The third time Peter answered, the Gospel says he was grieved. I can only imagine how Peter felt as His Lord and Savior who knew everything kept asking him. Was He testing him or did He doubt his response? Christ knows, that like Peter, we love Him, but also, like Peter, He asks us the same question, not three times but countless times throughout our lives. If we have the fortitude, faith and trust to say "Yes Lord; you know that I love you," He then responds "Feed my sheep" and "Follow me."

As Christians, followers of Christ, we have been blessed to experience His love, Grace, mercy, and forgiveness by living a Cursillo weekend. For many of us, we had not encountered His presence with the intensity we felt in the community of those who served us in so many intimate and beautiful ways. Our physical and spiritual needs were provided far beyond expectation. A love that great, that overwhelming, creates in us a desire to return the gift.

So where do we start? Always with our friend Christ. He is the way, the truth and the life. Through piety and study we explore the depths of His love for us. His passionate, deep, faithful, infinite, perfect love is the source of our joy and peace. When we spend quality time with our Savior, He provides us with Grace so we may be the light that brings joy and peace everywhere we go.

His Grace allows us to see our world in such a different way. If we pay attention, His messages are everywhere. A few weeks ago, I (Paul) was feeling overwhelmed because I was being pulled in so many directions. I felt sorry for myself and was sliding in a very negative direction. Then, He came to me in the form of a bumper sticker that read "None of us is as strong as ALL of us." I was feeling sorry for myself because while I was trying to do everything, it seemed like I was doing it myself. The truth was I had my beautiful wife by my side, I had my family and an entire community with me. I realized that there are many who care for me and hold me up in prayer.

We are never alone. If we feel that way, it is because we choose to close ourselves from the Grace that is all around us. And yes, in this world where there is the absence of Grace, evil not only exists but thrives. Around every corner, with our very next step we can fall into the darkness. However, our friend Christ and our friends who strive to live their lives in Grace are always there with an outstretched hand. All we have to do is reach out, grab hold, allow Grace to heal us and continue on our journey.

We were blessed to have our first English men's and women's Cursillos at our Cursillo House in April and May. Both were powerful encounters with Christ and a community of believers, followers of The Way. May we continue as a Cursillo community, as part of His church to pray for and be present to our brothers and sisters in Christ.

Paul & Ana Machuca

The Splashes of Life

I came across the following message, and it stayed with me, causing me to ponder. The author is unknown, I would however, love to take a walk with him or her. I hope it causes you to ponder as well. In this ministry of Cursillo, we may find ourselves in positions of leadership, and sometimes, that position takes us to a place that is not of love but rather of power. We forget that what we put out will return unto us, as well as affect all we come into contact with. Take a moment to ponder the splashes you make.....

My grandfather took me to the fishpond on the farm when I was about seven and he told me to throw a stone into the water. He told me to watch the waves created by the stone, and then he asked me to think of myself as that stone.

"You may create a lot of splashes in your life, but remember the waves that come from those splashes will affect the peace of all your fellow creatures," he said.

"Remember that you are responsible for what you throw into your circle, and that your waves will touch many other circles. Always try to live in a way that the waves that come from your circle send out the peace of your goodness to other circles.

"Remember the waves that come from anger and jealousy will also send those feelings to other circles. You are responsible for all the waves."

That was the first time I realized each person creates the inner peace or discord that flows out into the world.

We cannot create world peace if we are riddled with inner conflict, hatred, doubt and anger. We radiate the feelings and thoughts that we hold inside whether we voice them or not. Whatever is sloshing around inside of us is spilling out into the world, creating beauty or discord with all the other circles of life.

Remember the eternal wisdom: WHATEVER YOU FOCUS ON EXPANDS...

"A man travels the world over in search of what he needs, and returns home to find it." ~George Moore

A FOURTH DAY JOURNEY

The Journey

All of life is a journey and the Fourth Day Journey is life post Cursillo. The Fourth Day is a journey that has a series of hills to climb. It is the same for us all. As a good friend told me, following Christ is like pushing a huge boulder up a hill. It is hard work but once you are there, "Oh what a view!" But in our humanness, we enjoy that view for only a time and then begin to take it for granted. We wonder what might be over that next hill and think perhaps the view there is even better. Going downhill is so much easier, or, so it seems but the ease in going down, makes climbing that next hill ever so much harder. The obstacles seem bigger and more challenging. The climb seems slower. Up one hill after another . . . that is the Fourth Day journey – or so it has been for me.

Since making a Cursillo Weekend in October 1994, I have climbed many hills. Some much easier than others. Thanks be to God, I do not journey alone. I have been supported along the way by wonderful, loving and supportive brothers and sisters in Christ. The support we need for the Journey is found in Christ and in one another. In Cursillo we are blessed to realize the support of others through a faith-filled, prayerful community. Attendance at Leaders School, participation in Cursillo Weekends, grouping and Ultreyas are all means for nourishment and nurturing in striving to live a life centered around Piety, Study and Action. By sharing Close Moments with Christ we inspire one another to keep on and to find Christ in our day-to-day lives. When we are in need, we know we can seek the support of our Cursillo Community.

This past year has been a very challenging one for me. It has been, I think, the very hardest hill for me on this Fourth Day Journey. On Mothers' Day 2009 I was taken by ambulance to the Emergency Room. I was struggling to breathe and I had come to the moment when taking "the next breath" was such a struggle that I found the courage to reach out for help. This "moment" followed soon after Glen Bell entered so suddenly into his eternal life. I remember saying out loud, "Glen, I am not ready to follow you yet." Sitting in that emergency room that Sunday afternoon though, my thought was, "So this is what it is like to die." It makes me feel like crying just to remember that moment, that thought.

God sent me a wonderful, caring, faith-filled cardiologist. I don't believe for a moment that it was any coincidence that he was the doctor on duty that day. He was reassuring and comforting and so caring. When he would leave me after his daily calls it was always with a "God bless you." I felt safe and reassured. I was also stunned to hear him say that I would be staying for a few days in the hospital because I had congestive heart failure. Congestive heart failure? Me?? Up I went from the Emergency Room to a room in the Acute Observation Unit. My heart activity was monitored day and night. It was a secure feeling.

Once settled in my room, I made a call to a dear friend who is also a Cursillista. She immediately sent a message to Rick to have my name placed on the Prayer Request list. And, you, my brothers and sisters in Christ took it from there. In no time at all I was being wrapped in the loving prayers of countless of you in this Community. I received calls, visits, cards, flowers, messages of support from a seemingly endless number of Cursillistas.

As I prepared to leave the hospital at the end of that week, my doctor shocked me with the news that my heart had been significantly damaged and was functioning at "about 20%." That still amazes me to think about it. Did I ever need the prayers being offered for me! For days and weeks and months I could feel myself supported by your loving prayers. At my February check up, my heart was up to functioning at 48%. A wonderful improvement! I am hoping that when I go in for my one year check up in May, there will be an even greater improvement. So, I ask for your continued prayers.

This part of my Fourth Day Journey has been very humbling. There is the emotional struggle in recognizing that I was and still am "sick" (though I generally look well and overall feel quite good;) but I need to let go and allow others to take the lead and to do for me. It continues to be a physical struggle. My main challenge is fatigue and insomnia. It means that I don't do all the things I was accustomed to doing and I miss the involvement – particularly with Cursillo. But, don't give up on me! In time, I believe I will be back to my "old" self. For now, I push this boulder up this new hill. I do what I can and thank God for the blessing of each new day. I also thank you all from the bottom of my heart for your prayers, messages and inquiries about my well being. How can I ever thank you? You can be assured that I remember you in my daily prayers.

At Morning Prayer on Holy Saturday morning, the congregation prayed part of Psalm 30. As I thought of the journey of this past year, it was just the right prayer for me:

"O LORD, my God, I cried out to you and you healed me.

You changed my mourning into dancing; you took off my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness.

With my whole being I sing endless praise to you. O Lord, my God, forever will I give you thanks."

As you meet the challenges of your own Fourth Day Journeys, keep pushing your boulders up those hills. Remember, we do not go alone. We go in the company of Christ and in the company of one another. Let us remember to pray for one another and to persevere! Once we get to the top of that hill, the view is awesome.

A Couples Journey

GREETINGS FORM LA MIRADA

We are Frank & Becky Marone, we lived our Cursillo in March 2003 and were know as Team #600 and 601.

We will be celebrating our 30th wedding anniversary this October 25th and have two adult sons Gino 27 and Frankie 25.

Our faith journey has taken us many places in our relationship with each other and with our God. When we were first married Frank was not a practicing catholic, but had agreed once we had children he would attend mass with me every Sunday. So when I did go to mass it usually was alone.

In 1989 we attended a Marriage Encounter Weekend, and it turned our lives around. We went from the last pew of the church to the front pew because we were in love with our Catholic faith, and it showed. We became joyful, dutiful Catholics.

When Martha and Mike Hidalgo invited us to a Cursillo Weekend we were open to experience the weekend. We had seen the excitement in them after their Cursillo Weekend and we were really looking forward to ours. During that weekend we discovered how much God loves us and we also felt the love and support from the entire community. We met people on our weekend who have now become our very close friends, and have been there for us in good times and in bad.

Hearing on the weekend and understanding how society has turned their backs on Christ caused us to get involved, and we wanted everyone around us from family, neighbors, and co-workers to join us so we could make a difference in our environment. One person, one couple or one religion at a time. We know that bringing others to Christ will not only change our environment but also the world.

Grouping is a key element of living our 4th day. After our weekend I got into a group right away, but it took Becky almost a year to find a group she felt good about, so don't give up until you find the group for you. In our groups we are supported, encouraged and challenged to be the best Catholic we can be. How we strive to live our life in grace makes us look at how we are sustained by our Piety, Study, and Action.

For us the journey constantly challenges us to look at the choices we make and what corrections we need to make to stay on that course. It isn't always easy, we have been out of our comfort zones several times, but that's when we depend on our Groupies and community for support.

We have come to understand the responsibility bestowed on us as Catholics, and with that responsibility there is much work that still needs to be done. This can be achieved by using the wonderful unique gifts that God has given each and every one of us.

Cursillo has and will continue to teach us how to be contagious Catholics.

A priest Insight

Together with three HFC parishioners, Robert Solano, Mike Moroles and Tim Phelan, I made my Cursillo #509 retreat on the third weekend of January 2010. During those 3 nights, I enjoyed sleeping on the floor in the Marywood gymnasium. As a priest, I received a private room offered by the retreat team. I told them that I wanted to try to stay with my brother retreatants for the first night and if there was too much snoring, I would take the offered private room. Though there was an orchestra of the joyful noise throughout the whole night, I did not take the private room. As it turned out, I greatly enjoyed the friendship and loving care I received from these brothers.

Have you ever participated in a Cursillo retreat? Don't you believe that there are many people out there who have prayed and who offer their daily prayers for you? They pray that when the hour of Our Lord has come, it is the Lord who decides a date for you to come to a retreat. When you participate in it, all you need to do is, sit back, relax, enjoy the talks, and open your self up, your spirit, your heart, your mind, your soul and your love, to God. God will do the rest for you. When the third day is over, with all you gained from the retreat, start using them on your 4th day— the day you come away from the Marywood hilltop.

The most value that every one gets from the retreat is to know that we are loved by God with God's AGAPE, and that we are loved by all who are surrounding us. For all who have made the retreat (Cursillistas) and for all who will go in the future, I pray that you may continue to experience God's love for you and for others. May you come to realize how much God loves you! May you begin to love God in your own deep and profound way! May you go forth to pass this love to one another and let this love transform you and others.

GOD LOVES YOU. SO DO I. PLEASE PRAY FOR ME, TOO.
AND I THANK YOU VERY MUCH.

Father Bao

Cursillos in Christianity

Cursillo (pronounced kur-see-yo) is a Spanish word meaning "short course". It begins on a Thursday evening and ends Sunday evening. During those three days the Cursillistas (those attending the weekend) live and work together, listening to talks given by priests and laypeople. They also attend Mass, receive Communion and visit the Blessed Sacrament daily.

The priest, who is the "spiritual director" and the laity who make up the Cursillo "team" spend weeks working and praying together in preparation for the weekend. The Cursillo takes careful planning because the time is short and the subject extensive. The titles of the talks indicate their content: Ideal, Sanctifying Grace, Laypeople in the Church, Actual Grace, Piety, Study, The Sacraments, Action, Obstacles to Grace, Leaders, Study of the Environment, Life in Grace, Community in Action and Perseverance.

Not A Retreat

A Cursillo can be made only once in a lifetime, therefore it is not a substitute for a retreat. Actually the Cursillo makes succeeding retreats more profitable and Cursillistas are encouraged to make regular retreats. The basic atmosphere of a Cursillo differs greatly from the individual solitude of a retreat. The Cursillo weekend is not silent. The teachings of Christ are experienced and shared in a climate of joy and a spirit of community. During the talks the Cursillistas take notes and each talk is followed by a discussion period within a small group.

Instrument of Renewal

The Cursillo is a powerful instrument of renewal in the Church. Its aim is to concentrate closely on the Person and teachings of Jesus Christ. The Cursillo gives those who attend a living understanding of basic Christian truths and a desire to serve the Church. What's more it provides a means to continue the Christian formation which is just begun in the three-day weekend.

The Fourth Day

The "after" activity of the Cursillo is known as the "fourth day", that is the balance of the Cursillista's life on earth. During this time perseverance is important just as in any method of renewal. In the Cursillo Movement the community spirit is continued after the three days through the "ultreyas" or reunions of the community. These are available as a means of growth in understanding and zeal within the Christian community. Smaller groups of friends also come together regularly to encourage and support one another in spiritual growth and the Christian apostolate.

History of Cursillo

The movement began in 1944 on the island of Majorca, birthplace of Father Junipero Serra. Under leadership of a Spanish layman, Eduardo Bonnin, a group of some 30 priests and laymen met to organize some means of countering immorality and indifference to religion. The Bishop of Majorca, Juan Hervas, suggested the program that was finally developed carefully into the Cursillo. The first Cursillo took place in the United States in 1957. It was originated by two Spanish Air Force pilots who were training with the U.S. Air Force in Texas.

The Church and Cursillo

The Cursillo movement was given Church approval in December 1963. On that occasion, Pope Paul VI said in part: "This method of Christian teaching commonly called Cursillos in Christianity extends already over a great number of the faithful and it has produced abundant fruit: Christian renewal of family life...and the vitalization of parishes."

In March of 1971, after making his Cursillo weekend, then Archbishop Timothy Manning was quoted in the Tidings as saying, "From my experience I must say this has my 100% plus...not only approval but enthusiasm."

Christianizing Environments

The Cursillo is an encounter with Christ. Correctly applied and overseen the Cursillo Movement can have very positive results in the spiritual revitalization of the world. The Christ-likeness in a few people is contagious. The transference of Christ's values to others in one's family, school, place of business, etc., is the Christianizing of environments the Cursillo promotes. The goal of the movement is that Christ be the prime influence in society. So it is said the PRIMARY OBJECTIVES of the Cursillo Movement are to develop in adult Christians a consciousness of their ability and mission to become leaders in the work of Christian renewal, and to sustain them as they provide a Christian leaven in civic, social and economic life. This "Christianizing of environments" is what the Cursillo movement is about.
